Planning a romantic evening for Valentine's Day? Here's five tips to keep you and your sweetheart enjoying that lovin' feeling:

1. Fan the flames...gently. Keep any candles away from flammable items, like linens, hair, and walls--or use LEDs if possible.
2. If you're drinking, plan for an Uber, taxi, or public transit to keep yourself and your date from driving while intoxicated.
3. Play it safe in the kitchen. Nearly 15 million Americans have food allergies, so ask your date if there's any ingredients you'll need to avoid in that special home-cooked dinner.
4. Chocolate, flowers, and balloons can be deadly to pets if swallowed. Keep an eye on your furry friends, or find a pet-sitter for the evening if needed.
5. Make sure your insurance coverage is up-to-date. You never know when you might need some extra protection. 😊 🍷

Ever wish you could work from home...the beach...or anywhere, really, that doesn't have annoying coworkers and the smell of burned coffee?

If you've been thinking of starting a business, we can help. A life insurance policy can build the funds you need to launch your dream, instead of taking out a high-interest loan at the bank.

Once you're set up, we also offer business E&O insurance to protect your investment--and your family--in case you need some backup. You know, besides the family that's already cheering for your success.

Does your car insurance cover damage caused by snow and ice? If you have comprehensive coverage on your policy, the answer is yes.

This could include fallen tree branches or icicles, or the accidental scratches and dings from snow shovels, brushes, and ice scrapers...especially when "helpful" children are involved.

Note that damage resulting from intentional dings as you angrily dig out your car is NOT covered. Please shovel wisely. 😞

If you're not sure about your auto policy's comprehensive coverage, call us at (307) 682-3197

Ironically, when most people think of life insurance...they think of death.

What about your big plans while you're still alive? Has your family been dreaming of a trip to Europe? A three-month camper-living road trip through as many states as possible?

Instead of promising your loved ones that you'll do it "someday," let's make it happen.

How? With life insurance! A permanent life insurance policy can be the "nest egg" you need to fund that dream vacation, or to pay for some much-needed time off to spend with your family and friends.

As your policy's cash value grows, you can borrow against it--often tax-free. Give us a call at (307) 682-3197 and let's get started planning for your family's future adventures.

What big trip would you LOVE to take? Let us know in the comments!
